County Agent Will Direct Work In The County

Seed of Milo and Hegari is expected to be available through the County Agricultural Agent for late cover - crop planting. The Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. D. A. is supplying this seed to farmers who will use it to plant on land where the crop has failed or was not planted.

It is not intended for production purposes but to help fill the gap in erosion resisting vegetation caused by failure of crops and neglect of land.

For example, land now being summer fallowed for wheat with no returns of straw and stubble this year will enter the winter solely dependent on the fall sown wheat for protection. Both soil and wheat can be made safer if a wide row of strip planting of sorghum is made soon.

The agreement necessary to get this seed is a simple and honest promise to leave an effective cover on the land through the winter. The land which goes into the winter without straw, stubble or stalks will continue to blow away and damage nearby crops as long as it remains in an exposed condition.

The more bare fields can be got under cover before fall the safer the condition will be generally for the next blow season. Therefore, everyone who does not have a crop on the ground capable of leaving an effective residue behind is urged to obtain seed and plant at the first seasonable opportunity.

This is the first step in the per-

Fossil Hunters Unearth Species Of Rare Horse

Donley County Leader: The relief workers under the direction of Will Chamberlain, local paleontologist, have located among several interesting specimens a complete jawbone of an ancient horse that inhabited this section during the late Miocene or Pliocene era.

This specimen is known as "Hipparian" to scientists and passed from the scene in the Pliocene age, but not before it had given rise to some 35 species. This specimen retained the two outer toes, though they did not reach the ground.

Some of this species improved their teeth beyond anything known in the present day horse—the grinding teeth by which it is most readily recognized.

This form of teeth indicates a drouth condition when herbage was dry and tough. Its feet were better adapted to running or traveling over a wider area in less time than its ancestors.

Other specimens of horse found in the local fossil beds had as many as four toes, lived in swamps and was little larger than a jackrabbit, it is claimed.

A representative from the University of Southern California museum came early in the week with a view of purchasing this new "find," but went away disappointed. Mr. Chamberlain informed the visitor that the Canyon Panhandle-Plains Museum was entitled to the rare find, one of the very few of its kind intact.

Jack W. Burnett Died Thursday in El Paso Hospital

Jack W. Burnett, 19, died Thursday at El Paso after a short illness. The funeral services were held Saturday at the home of his parents, 1306 Sixth Ave., conducted by Mrs. Fannie Tyson of Amarillo, reader of the Christian Science Church. Interment followed in Dreamland Cemetery.

The deceased graduated from the Canyon high school and had completed two years in W. T. He was a teacher in the CCC camp at Prescott, Ariz., where he was taken ill. He was transferred to the hospital at El Paso for treatment on the 4th of June.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Burnett and one sister, Miss Mary Lou Burnett.

Pall bearers at the funeral were Thos. Harris, Marion Higdon, Landon Terry, Joe Stribling, Robert Hargrove and Daniel Layman.

Former Citizens of Wise County Will Meet at Palo Duro

The largest gathering of the year for the Palo Duro State Park will be held Saturday when former citizens of Wise county gather in the annual celebration.

Ben Short of Amarillo, president of the association, visited the Palo Duro Park yesterday in company with L. Gough to select a camp site and make arrangements for the gathering.

Judge Bob Underwood of Amarillo will make the only speech of the day.

Registration will start at 9:30 Saturday morning and a continuous program will be held during the day.

Miss Esther Rudolph, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Dan K. Usery, left Saturday for Ann Arbor, Mich., where she will continue her studies for her Master's degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox arrived Monday to make their future home. They were married at Upper Montclair, N. J., June 8th.

Building, Cases, Markers Are Requested Tuesday

A plea was made Tuesday in Austin before the Centennial committee for the enlargement of the Museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in order to take care of the hundreds of exhibits which are not on display at the present time, and others which will come in the future years.

W. H. Patrick, president, of Clarendon; Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo; Floyd Studer of Amarillo; and L. F. Sheffy, secretary, of Canyon, represented the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The delegation asked that if there was sufficient money for a museum in West Texas, that the present one should be enlarged rather than build a competing museum. The committee was asked that in event there was not sufficient funds to provide for a museum building, that a sufficient sum be given the Museum to provide for adequate cases for the present building.

The Panhandle delegation presented facts regarding thirty historic spots in this section which they asked be marked in a suit-

PLANS WORKED OUT

Pres. J. A. Hill left Tuesday for Fort Worth to enter application with the Public Works Administration for a $200,000 library building to be erected on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College.

Authorization for the application was given by the Board of Regents of the college at its quarterly meeting at Galveston Friday and Saturday. The board directed the raising of 55 per cent of the amount from the local college fund.

While in Fort Worth Dr. Hill will make arrangements for advertising for bids on other building projects on the campus, the addition to Cousins Hall, the home economics cottage, and the ten apartment cottages for students.

Mr. Hill is being accompanied to Fort Worth by members of the firm of Rittenberry and Carder of Amarillo, architects who have drawn up plans for the proposed library building. The structure, as planned, will be of three stories, situated on the campus immediately north of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society museum and will harmonize in architectural design with the museum building.

House guests of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Neblett during the past week are Mrs. J. G. Heard and Miss Clara Becker both of Houston. They will leave for Houston tomorrow.

Mrs. George L. Nicholas of Montrose, Colo., is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. O. Burnett.

Asphalt Topping of Goodnight Trail To Be Started at Once

Rock is being hauled to the Goodnight Trail for the purpose of putting on the asphalt topping.

Oiling of the Trail was completed Saturday, with the exception of the lake bed east of Palo Duro school. The oiling greatly improved the road, and as a result several hundred people drove out to the Palo Duro Park during the week.

The contractors have one of the largest asphalt spreading machines in Texas, and hold the record for topping in the state. They will top about one mile per day when the work is started.

The final topping of crushed rock and asphalt will start at Canyon and continue east to the Park.

Avoid Salesmen Who are Not Registered in Texas

Who is he?

Can I depend upon his word?

Is he registered and licensed?

These are the questions that you should have answered to your complete satisfaction before buying stocks, bonds, oil leases, royalty or any other form of investment securities from a salesman—particularly when the salesman is a stranger. That's the advice of Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann, administrator and chief enforcement officer of Texas' new Securities Act.

Designed to curb the fraudulent and crooked seller of securities, the new law requires every security dealer, agent and salesman to be registered with the State. Any citizen may determine for himself if the salesman is registered by writing to the Secretary of State. The records are open to the public.

The State does not propose to guarantee or endorse any stock, bond or other security. However, salesmen may be held strictly accountable for representations made in the sale of securities.

The important thing, according to Secretary Mann, is to BE SURE THE SALESMAN IS REGISTERED!

Joe Boy Hill In Second Lecture Showing Pictures

Joe Boy Hill made his second appearance in Canyon Tuesday night, giving his lecture on his trip to Little America. This time he had his pictures to show.

The auditorium was filled with an interested group of friends and students attending W. T. during the summer. The lecture was sponsored by the Canyon Athletic Club.

The lecture was the 15th appearance Joe has made since returning with the Byrd expedition to Little America. He will leave this week for a visit to all the Teachers Colleges of Texas and fill other engagements over the state.

Those who had heard the first lecture and returned to hear Joe again Tuesday night were again thrilled by his presentation. His story of the frozen Antarctic was more graphically presented thru the use of many pictures which he had taken and had made into slides.

W. T. First Teachers College in State For Work

Work leading to a master's degree will be offered again at the West Texas State Teachers College beginning with the opening of the fall session in September of this year, announced President Hill Monday on his return from Galveston.

The Board of Regents of Texas Teachers colleges authorized the resumption of graduate work at their quarterly meeting which was attended by President Hill.

Masters degrees were offered by the college first in 1931-32 and 1932-33 when twenty-nine degrees were conferred.

Graduate work was removed from the curriculum at W. T. when the appropriations were cut in 1933.

W. T. was the first teachers college in Texas to qualify for graduate study. The work offered will be comparable to a fifth year of professional teacher training work leading to a master's degree, said Dr. Hill.

Majors will be offered in education with minors available in any department offering a four-year course, he explained.

This work will satisfy the needs of such students as the 81 special students who are enrolled this summer. Included in this number are 53 students who already have an undergraduate degree but who have been compelled to enroll as special students since the graduate work was omitted.

Plans have been begun for the courses to be offered.

Large Crowd Inspects Buffalo Courts Monday

Several hundred people took advantage of the invitation extended by Coach Al Baggett, the Canyon Athletic Club and the Chamber of Commerce to inspect Buffalo Courts Monday evening. The rain in the afternoon prevented many others from making the visit.

The Courts which are being occupied by the athletes were opened for inspection.

Those who had not previously visited the construction were delighted with the beauty of the stone and petrified wood which is being worked into the walls of the buildings.

At the present time work is being centered on the recreation hall. The stone work on this building is nearing completion, and carpenters will soon place the roof on this building.

It is hoped to start construction on two rooms of the Courts just south of the recreation hall within a few weeks.

Two Rains Fall Amounting to .67 For This Section

Canyon received two rains during the past past week. Friday night .45 of an inch fell, while Monday afternoon .22 of an inch fell.

The rains have been very spotted. A few miles south, east and west of Canyon the rain varied from 1 to 3 inches Monday, while the northwest section of the county received practically none.

Considerable hail fell with the rain of Monday.

Joe Black states that he has a good wheat crop west of Canyon which was badly damaged by the hail.

Mrs. Paul Lentner and sons Bobby and Billy of Roswell are visiting at the homes of Mrs. M. E. Rhodes and Mrs. Levi Cole.

Entered at the postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Published weekly at office, 1513 Fourth Avenue, Canyon, Texas.

The Texas Tax Relief Committee of Houston has started a campaign to educate the tax payers on the old age pension constitutional amendment to be voted upon August 24th. This amendment will increase the state's taxes approximately fifty per cent, when it seeks to pay $15 per person of 65 years and over. It will take $43,000,000 annually, which must be raised if the pensioners are to get their money. Offering a pension, which is uncollectable, is a shallow gesture. This Tax Committee is taking different industries and professions, showing what it will cost the classifications if the old age pension is passed. For instance, in the printing industry, it will cost the 13,769 persons engaged in this profession the sum of $20 each annually, and only 270 engaged in this profession will profit, according to this committee. As stated last week, we expect to see the people of Texas adopt this amendment. Any time the people think they will get something for nothing, they will certainly take it. Besides every one firmly believes that he will live to be more than 65 years of age, and would be glad to participate in the pension.

Just what the new NRA will do for the country remains to be seen. That it will avoid the many mistakes of the old NRA, will possibly make it more respected among the people of the nation. The multitude of codes broke down the first law; one general code is all the burden that any NRA will be able to successfully carry. Getting down to bed rock, it is certainly foolish to have men in business whom the government must attempt to force to make a living wage out of their business lines. Men who are in business should make a legitimate profit from their work, but the fact that more than 90% of all who engage in the retail business finally go broke is proof enough that most of them were foolish in their belief that they can operate without a profit. A respectable profit is due every man for his labor, no matter what his life's work may be.

Legislative reforms are made slowly. It is hard to understand just why the great United States senate would allow one man to run off at the mouth for 15½ hours simply because he was opposed to a pending bill. A group of freshmen senators hope to block such disgraceful events in the future. Whether or not they will be successful remains to be seen. The United States Senate is supposed to be one place on earth where a man may talk as long as he is physically able to stand up, regardless of what he is spouting off about. The less sense there is to his talk, the better it goes over.

It was rather amusing last week to see and hear Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell giving Governor James V. Allred a lecture on taxation. From political expediency Governor Allred was forced into the anti-sales tax campaign last summer, and of course stands by his guns. Under the leadership of Hamlin, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce took a decided stand in favor of the sales tax. The Judge likes to argue and has a world of information when he takes a stand upon any public question. Equally able in debate is Governor Allred, but who is lacking many years in practical experience in the business and political field. The argument of the two while private conversation was very interesting.

Congressman Martin Dies of Texas is taking to the radio for his bill to stop immigration and to return the undesirable aliens who have slipped into this nation. So far as returning the undesirables is concerned, all will agree that this would be a fine thing to do, if we could really get rid of them. Unfortunately all aliens are not undesirable, and many native born Americans are far from respectable and law abiding citizens. Furthermore, there are thousands of high class foreigners whom we could use in this country if a better selection could be made of immigrants. Dealing with immigrants is a tough job, in which national prejudice plays a large part.

It was great news when the announcement was made last week that $5,250,000 had been approved to fight soil erosion in the Panhandle. The campaign will extend over the entire "dust bowl" of the middle west. Of course the natives are hoping that there will be so much rain this year that the luxuriant growth of vegetation will make dust impossible next spring. A scientific policy is greatly needed for this section to make impossible a recurrence of another such spring as the middle west had in 1935.

After mature judgment has been passed on the Frazier-Lemke bill, killed by the Supreme Court, it is found that the law was only a lawyers' racket largely sponsored by Huey Long as one of his spectacular offerings; that it had not been taken advantage of by the farmers; that the bill was no part of the New Deal, but was accepted by the President as one of the possible measures of relief. The fact that it did not work out for the benefit of the farmers is sufficient to justify its death.

The criminal will agree after he is caught that crime never pays. However, while planning the crime, he thinks the scheme is fool proof, and that nothing can possibly go wrong. Everything about crime is wrong, therefore, the perfect crime cannot be committed. The criminal may escape the law of one crime, but those of criminal tendency will insist on repeating their "perfect" crime one time too often.

Texas will receive $185,000,000 as its quota of the new work-relief appropriation of four billion. The distribution for each county will be based upon the relief load, which means a small amount for the smaller counties. The anticipated benefits of each county will greatly shrink in view of the fact that great hope was held out to each county when the new bill was passed by congress.

Only 17 banks have failed in the seventeen months since the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation started the guaranty on deposits. 25,000 depositors were protected by FDIC in these 17 failures and every one was paid off promptly. The depositors in 14,000 banks in this nation are protected by the government through this agency. Your bank is the safest place in which to keep your money.

Largest 'Raw' Diamond in Existence, Big as Hen's Egg, in U. S.

AT last Americans have opportunity to see one of the world's greatest diamonds without the necessity of traveling abroad.

The giant "sparkler" in question is the Jonker diamond, a 726-carat gem as big as a hen's egg—the largest uncut specimen in existence.

The enterprise of a New York gem dealer, who passed over a fortune of more than $700,000 for the magnificent stone, is responsible for its arrival on this side of the Atlantic.

The Jonker diamond is the newest addition to a select family of famed gems. Tragedy, the result of coincidence or avarice, has spotted the history of most of the other outstanding gems, but nothing of the kind has marred the brief career of the Jonker stone.

FOR 18 years Jacobus Jonker, a poor, 61-year-old prospector, had sought diamonds in South African diggings, with little success.

On Jan. 17 of last year, at Elandsfontein, Pretoria, his native assistant came running to him, flourishing what resembled a small rock. Jacobus examined it, then hurried to his hut.

All that night he, his two sons, and some friends sat up, armed with guns. The reason for their caution was bound in a handkerchief, tied about the neck of Jonker's sleeping wife.

The next day Jonker entrusted his shiny fortune to the care of a mine manager; then sold it to a diamond corporation for some $300,000. The American gem dealer, Harry Winston, then is said to have paid more than double this amount.

THE new stone is said to be the fifth largest diamond ever discovered. The Cullinan, found in 1905, was the "granddaddy" of all diamonds. It weighed 3024¾ carats.

The Jonker diamond, incidentally, was picked up about three miles from the spot where the Cullinan was discovered. Since both stones had flat sides, and apparently had been split, it is believed by some that the Cullinan and Jonker specimens are parts of the same stone.

Winston, however, is skeptical; he believes the color and fire of his gem are much finer than that of the Cullinan. When the Jonker stone is cut, he declares, the controversy may be settled.

The second largest diamond is one of more than 2000 carats discovered in September, 1933, along the upper waters of the Saobento river in Brazil. The third largest known to the world is the Excelsior, found in the Jagersfontein mine of South Africa in 1893, by a native who was loading a truck.

And the only other diamond known to exceed the size of the Jonker specimen is the Great Mogul, which came from the Golconda mines of India several centuries ago and is said to have weighed 787 carats.

Experts believe the Jonker stone to be one of the most flawless gems in the world. When cut, they estimate it will weigh 425 carats, which will make it second in size only to the Star of Africa, a part of the giant Cullinan.

The size of the Jonker diamond, largest uncut specimen in existence, is compared in the picture above to that of an ordinary hen's egg. The valuable gem was found by a native laborer on the South African "diggings" of Jacobus Jonker, early last year.

OLD AGE PENSION

House Joint Resolution No. 19 is a proposed amendment to the Constitution to be voted on August 24, 1935. If adopted it will give the Legislature authority to provide for old age assistance at not exceeding $15.00 per month for all who are over 65 years of age.

The Legislature will have the power to prescribe such limitations, restrictions and regulations as it deems proper.

For the information of those who are interested in this amendment, the 1930 census shows the number of people in Texas from 65 to 74 years of age to be 160,853. From 75 years of age and over, 71,606, or a total of 232,459. If a pension of $15.00 per month is granted to each of these 232,459, it would cost, per year, $41,842,620.00.

The State now pays $16.50 for the schooling of 1,560,438 children (6 to 17 years of age), amounting to $25,747,227 last year, hence, it is possible for 1,792,897 of the 5,824,715 population of Texas to draw more than $65,000,000 per annum of public money.—Texas Tax Journal.

Debts Which Owed Discussed Tuesday at Rotary Club

Rev. O. K. Alexander of Hutchinson, Kansas, was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, discussing the debts which we owe. He based his discussion upon Paul's statement of being a debtor to both the Jews and Greeks—or to all men. The minister praised the spirit of Rotary and other luncheon clubs, in that it brings men together to eat and to sing—two methods through which men learn to know each other.

The speaker analysed the debts which we owe: At the meal time, we owe a debt to the farmer, the manufacturer, the transportation companies, the wholesaler, the retailer, the inventors and the discoverers. These furnish us foods, dishes, utensils, modern home conveniences, etc.

We owe a debt to the schools for the improvements being made; to the business men, for the higher standards of ethics. 'Someone worked and studied to bring about the things which we enjoy today," stated Mr. Alexander.

The only way which we may repay those who have made these improvements is to carry them on to the next generation.

"This is a great government," stated the speaker. There may be some mistakes, but on the whole the government is trying to do everything possible for the benefit of its people. Citizens may repay the government by being loyal to it; by voting right and inducing others to vote right.

Bob Foster, custodian of properties, was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

Chas. L. Dickey announced that Charles Strain, director of the Buffalo Band, will make arrangements for weekly concerts during the summer if the citizens desire these concerts.

Visitors present Tuesday were: W. S. Norman, W. A. Askew, R. A. Ford, W. H. Rusk, J. J. Saunders and Irving Tolzein, all of Amarillo; G. W. Cox, R. B. Gist, J. P. Hix, L. T. Campbell and Joe Black of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McGee are visiting at the home of their son, Cass McGee of Los Angeles. They will attend the graduation exercises of their daughter, Miss Celestine, who graduates from the Los Angeles College on June 20th.

Arrest 'Breaks' Weyerhaeuser Case

Confessions of Harmon M. Waley, left, and his wife, arrested in Salt Lake City in connection with the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., sent federal men hot on the trail of William Mahan, right, alleged leader in the abduction of the young heir to northwestern lumber millions. An automobile seized in Butte, Mont., containing more than $15,000 in ransom money, was believed to have belonged to Mahan, who, like Waley, is a paroled ex-convict.

"Middle 60's Are Good" Says Noted Editor of Kansas

BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE

Today I seem to be well planted in my middle sixties. I have definitely left the early sixties and in a few months will be well into the borderland of the late sixties.

I used to be afraid of the sixties. Indeed, I was afraid of the fifties. On my fiftieth birthday, coming down to the party which Mrs. White gave for me, I was so overcome of fear of impending senility that I sat on the stairs and wept.

I am not afraid now. The middle sixties are good, so far as I can tell. Though the seeds of death may be in my body, I have never seemed so well in my life; never could do a better day's work than I have done yesterday and today; never had higher hopes for usefulness and happiness; never had better friends; never had so long a lever and so solid a fulcrum with which to make myself felt in the world.

In the middle sixties a man has a right to be a Narcissus and look back into his life and preen himself a bit. Probably in the mirror of his past a man will mistake his vices for his virtues.

I seem to be proud today of my constancy. I was born in the town where I live. I work day after day less than 500 feet from my birthplace. I have lived all my life in one state, except for a three-year detour in Kansas City, Mo.

Long in Same Place

I have lived in only five towns—Emporia, El Dorado, Lawrence, Topeka and Kansas City—and nearly forty of my sixty-five years have been spent in this town of Emporia. I have lived in one ward for thirty-eight years, in one house for nearly thirty-four years.

The thing that I cannot understand about life is that I am old or that any of those whom I have known all these sixty-five years are old. They all seem young to me, and I seem young to myself.

I must know a score of people whom I see every year and hear from frequently, whom I knew in my childhood, and I cannot see that they have changed except externally. They have the same strength and the same weaknesses they had in childhood and youth.

The years have done nothing to that deep final something that is personality. It is changeless. It has resisted the years and the tortures of the flesh. Why may it not be immortal, that mysterious spiritual essence that we call the personality—for short, the soul?

I do not know and it will do me no good to care. Being 65, I shall probably know quicker than most people, and that does not disturb me. I fear vastly more a futile, incompetent old age than I do any form of death.

Death More Reasonable

As one grows into one's middle sixties death comes more reasonable than it does in childhood and youth. The thought of death used to terrify me. Now it seems a natural thing, a part of life—just another experience, whatever it is. So many of my friends have faced it, why not I?

In the meantime why fret about it? I have been shaving this funny old face every Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday and Saturday for years and years. I have come to look on it as a mask behind which is the reality that it has to hide.

It is getting a bit battered and shop-worn. Perhaps it would not be such a bad idea to cast it off and let dust return to dust, and if there is any salvage "with God be the rest."

Lady Luck has been good to me. I fancy she is good to everyone, only some people are dour and when she gives them the come-hither with her eyes they look down or turn away and lift an eyebrow. But me, I give her the wink and away we go.

One night many years ago at Coney Island I saw stretched across the street a great carnival banner on which was written: "Ain't it grand to be bughouse?" It has been my motto since.

There is no insanity so devastating in man's life as utter insanity. It will get him quicker than whiskey. Logic is an addiction that drives men into acute melancholia and makes dumb bunnies of its devotees.

So here I stand in my middle sixties thumbing my nose at the future and throwing kisses at the past; challenging fate to do her worst, for I have beaten her at her own game. I have come three score years and five and have won—being lucky—more than my share of the tricks.

You can't take them from me.

AN unusually chic appearance is given to this apron frock, Pattern 501, by the attractively smart double-breasted closing. Interesting details are added in the ruffle trim, sash and pockets. Percale, calico, or gingham should be used.

Patterns are sized 14 to 20, and 32 to 42. Size 18 requires 5½ yards of 35 or 39-inch fabric, plus ½ yard contrast.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

In order to partially take care of the general expense of handling checking accounts occasioned by furnishing checks, entering credits, making charges through the books and ledgers, writing up monthly statements, cancelling and filing checks; and especially when a number of check entries are made, it will be necessary to make a small service charge on a monthly basis in order to absorb a small portion of this expense.

Following is a schedule showing the basis on which a small service charge will be computed on checking accounts:

Accounts averaging less than $50.00—50c per month —5 checks allowed.

Accounts:
$ 50.00 to $100.00— 5 checks allowed;
$100.00 to $200.00—10 checks allowed;
$200.00 to $300.00—20 checks allowed;
$300.00 to $400.00—30 checks allowed;
$400.00 to $500.00—40 checks allowed;

Checks in excess of the number allowed, as per above schedule, 3c each.

Accounts averaging $1,000.00 or more are subject to cost analysis to determine if any charge is made.

A charge of 3c each will be made on all out of town checks handled as cash items and based upon the above schedule; and a charge of 25c per hundred will be made on out of town items sent separately as collection items to be credited when paid, with a minimum charge of 15c.

In making the small service charge in line with the above schedule, we trust that our customers will understand that it is always our aim to render a satisfactory banking service, and at the same time keep the expense of such service down to where it will not be objectionable.

Traditional Cry, "Kill the Umpire," Gives Way to "Fire the Manager," as Fans Turn Guns on Johnson, Grimm, Traynor et al.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IT seems to be open season on diamond mentors.

Walter Johnson precipitated a tempest in a tepee when he released two aged Indians, Glenn Myatt and Willie Kamm, because he thought they were cramping his style. The popular Kamm was subsequently rehired as a scout; but Cleveland fans in general are still peeved with the Big Train, even though the Indians are right up in the first flight.

Manager Charlie Grimm is another victim Wrigley Field turnstiles, which clicked so merrily a few years ago when the Cubs were battling for the top rung in the National, have slowed down considerably. One reason, of course, is the swell current showing of the White Sox. The other is the failure of Chuck Klein, Freddie Lindstrom and Kiki Cuyler to hit their natural batting strides. His failure to pep up Cub players has set fans howling for Grimm's scalp.

And in Pittsburgh, Manager Pie Traynor is showered with verbal brickbats by (P)irate fans whenever his masterminding backfires.

These are only a few of the more obvious feuds, all going to show that team-managing is not a bed of roses.

SOME of the play may soon be taken from the historic four-mile race at Poughkeepsie, where the town's failure to provide financial assistance makes it difficult each year for participants to raise funds for the trip.

Southern California business interests will guarantee expenses when Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Wisconsin tackle the favored Washington and California shells over the Olympic course at Long Beach, Calif.

Marietta College, sponsor of the recent Mid-America regatta on the Ohio, covets the intercollegiate race that annually has gone to Poughkeepsie. Coaches who have seen both stretches of water consider the one lying between the Ohio and West Virginia hills even more appropriate than the Hudson scene of many thrilling battles.

Marietta College has launched a definite movement to land the big number in 1938, and may find the competing institutions in a receptive frame of mind, if Marietta promises more co-operation than they have been getting from Poughkeepsie.

College Farm to Get Electrical Power

Will Aid Work, Furnish Light For College Plant

Electricity for T-Anchor Farm will soon be a reality, according to Professor Frank R. Phillips, head of the department of agriculture. Work is already under way on the project. The current will be furnished by the Texas Utilities Co. of Canyon.

Upon completion of the project, the electricity will be used to grind feed, to run the cooler in the milk house, and, perhaps, to pump water. "To date," says Mr. Phillips, "there have been no light in the houses on T-Anchor Farm, and with the electrical service making possible a good lighting system, working and studying conditions will be greatly improved for the boys."

T-Anchor Farm consists of 200 acres of the old T-Anchor ranch, the first ranch established in Randall County. Eighty-five acres are planted in feed, which is this summer's farm project. An artificial lake, fed by a large spring, irrigates a fourteen-acre plot that materially reduces the feed costs of the dairy herd, which is composed of forty cows.

Five buildings are located on the farm: the main house,, the dairy barn with apartments above for the boys, the Freshman house, T-Anchor house, which is being preserved and restored because of its historic interest, and the building known as the rock-house.

The rock house is a five-room house consisting of three bedrooms, a kitchen, and a study room, constructed of native rock and recently completed by student labor. It is near the Canyon-Amarillo highway on a hill overlooking the farm, the Palo Duro Creek and the farm lake. 20 newly planted willows and cottonwoods around the lake offer a pleasant place to picnic and swim.

The college farm serves three purposes. It is a laboratory for the department of agriculture of W. T. S. T. C. It supplies Grade A milk to the college dormitories and cafeteria. It is a means of helping boys pay their college expenses.

Eighteen boys are on the farm for the summer, but present plans are to provide for forty during the winter term.

The boys who reside at T-Anchor Farm are picked by Prof. T. M. Moore, associate professor of agriculture, who is in charge of the farm, on the basis of their high school training, their achievements while in school, and any outstanding vocational work they have accomplished. "Those boys fundamentally most interested in agriculture prove the best students to put on the T-Anchor Farm," Prof. Phillips commented.

One freshman works on the farm for his room expenses; one sophomore, if he has proved worthy, receives his room and perhaps a little money towards board; one junior receives both room and board; and a senior of proven merit gets room and board and money.

The group in charge of landscaping are the usual residents of T-Anchor House. Only freshmen live in the Freshman house, where one boy cooks and receives room and board for his services. The others pay their part of the cost of board, exclusive of milk. The monthly cost for board is usually from $6 to $7 per boy.

Those placed on the farm are divided into groups with a leader in charge of each group. The leader, together with the boys assigned to him make and work out their own plans for their part of the farm projects.

Boys living on the farm are in charge of the various departments for the summer.

The swimming pool, newly opened to the public, is under the management of Jerry Roberts of Quanah. Clyde Andrews of McLean is supervisor of the dairy and milk distribution. The production group is under the leadership of James Steed of Childress. Paul Sweat of Westbrook, with Wilbur Spaugh of Durham, Okla., as assistant, is in charge of the farm-crop production.

Fossils Found By Johnston

Jaw of Dog, Sabre Tooth Tiger, Camel Are Excavated

Prof. C. S. Johnston brought back the jaw of a dog and parts of a sabre tooth tiger, camel, horse, and rhinosceros last week from the excavation grounds about 6½ miles from Miami. The fossil tracks of a huge tiger were found in the rocks near camp.

Mr. Johnson, head of the archaeology department; his assistant, Harry Hartzog, and Warren D. Mateer of the training school science department made the trip.

In addition to digging, they also finished work on the camp. Mr. Johnson reports that the camp, which formerly consisted of dugouts, now looks like a summer cottage camp. The walls of the houses have been plastered and the camp is a suitable place for students to do week-end excursion work.

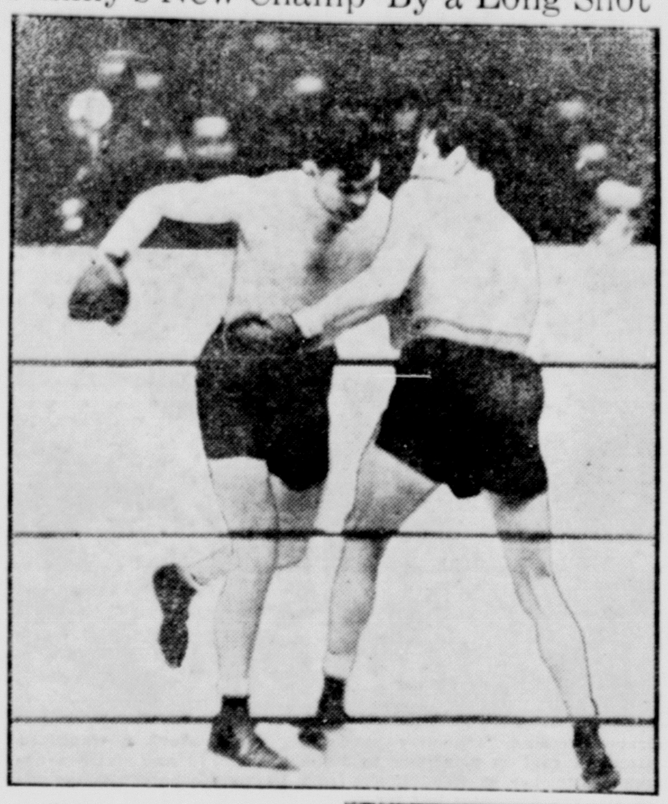
Dr. R. A. Stirton of the University of California visited the grounds while they were there. He said it was one of the nicest camps he had ever seen. Dr. Stirton was one of the best men ever to have worked there. He gave the party a rare specimen of an earlier type of horse which he collected in South Texas. Dr. Stirton's donation is a great addition to the collection Mr. Johnson has made.

The bones will eventually be on display in the museum.

The report is out that tending garden is good for you, but is regarded as a groundless rumor in many quarters.

The best place to have glasses fitted is at Dr. Hyden's, Amarillo. 38tf

Jimmy's New Champ 'By a Long Shot'



"It feels good to be champ" is evidently what Jimmy Braddock, new heavyweight champion, is whispering to Jack Dempsey, in the picture at right. In one of the ring's most startling upsets, the Jersey Irishman, a 10-1 shot, left-jabbed Max Baer to defeat in a 15-round decision mill. A year ago, Braddock and his family existed on relief funds, when Jimmy found prelim bouts or work on the docks unavailable. Since then, the 29-year-old fighter earned himself a chance at the heavyweight title by virtue of wins over Corn Griffin and Art Lasky, both bouts in which he had been considered a "set-up." A crowd of 30,000 fans in New York watched the fight, a scene from which is shown above.

"My Old Man—my father, I mean—thinks he knows everything! Why, geewhiz . . . he reads the gasoline ads, specially the ones with pretty girl pictures in 'em, and then he gets a tankful of stuff nobody ever heard of. Yeah, a swell guy but a poor picker.

"Well, this afternoon being Sunday, we went for a ride . . . me all dressed up in a goofy bonnet with a big scratchy bow under my good ear. The traffic was terrific and the heat was goshawful. So out of sheer irritation I grabbed my forty winks.

"When I woke up, a motorcycle cowboy was telling Pops that he couldn't park in the middle of the parade. I thought there were tears in Father's eyes—maybe it was only perspiration—as he answered 'My engine's dead. Help me push the car over to the curb.'

"Boyohboy, was that motor hot! Clouds of steam sizzling out of the radiator. Funny gurglings and thumpings under the hood. For crying out loud, was Dad's face red when Auntie's car passed, and they saw us stuck there! But the real bad news is the bill we got for towing and for two new bearings.

"No sir, for the life of me, I can't see the economy of using cheap gasoline . . . especially when Phillips 66 is engineered for specific summer weather, same as it is for definite winter cold. Anyone can see that a gasoline made different for the different seasons of the year is gonna give better results. What's the sense of trying to save cents and wasting dollars, when you can get 100% custom-tailored gasoline—yes, I mean Phillips 66—for the same price as ordinary gas?

Phillips 66

"P.S. Since writing the above, the car's been fixed and we're using Phillips 66, and Mother says the budget's in better shape than ever because we're getting more miles and less repair bills."

As Midwestern 'Grass Roots' Republicans Shaped Program

After adopting a ten-point program stressing "collective bargaining" for labor, a stabilized farm market, and sound currency based on gold as principles to guide their 1936 national convention, a two-day "grass roots" conference attended by Republicans from 10 middlewestern states adjourned at the Coliseum in Springfield, Ill., and delegates left for their homes. One of the prominent speakers at the meetings was Frank O. Lowden, former Illinois governor, shown inset as he addressed the attentive assemblage, shown above, assailing the New Deal.

as in 1871 with his parents, who settled at Collinsville, Grayson County. After attending Ohio University for three years, Mr. Younger established a general mercantile business at Collinsville, and in 1888 married Mary Ella Eliott, of Harpersville, Alabama. In 1891 he moved to the Texas Panhandle, filing on a section of land in Randall County. Then he moved after about three years to Post Oak, Clay County, and thence to Bowie, where he continued in the mercantile business. After losing his wife in 1902, he moved with his children to Farwell, in 1906, and then to Canyon in 1913, where he continued in the grocery business until he retired in 1926.

From early manhood Mr. Younger was a continuous and active member of the Baptist Church.

Younger of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Ennis Estes of Phoenix, Arizona; and Ira V. Younger of Vernon; by ten grandchildren; and by a sister, Mrs. L. G. Conner, of Canyon.

This Batty Costume Helped Him Fly

A human bat is A. Kharakhanov, Soviet parachute jumping instructor. He leaped from an airplane soaring 10,000 feet over Rostov-on-Don, Russia, and glided through the air for 4000 feet before pulling the cord of his parachute. For seven minutes and three seconds Kharakhanov soared through space on his man-made airplane cloth wings before making a successful landing. Duraluminum tubes act as "bones" to support the wings which the batman demonstrates above.

Soil Erosion

manent soil erosion program to get under way in Randall county. It is expected to help prevent soil blowing next fall and winter. The success of this as well as other steps in the program will depend entirely on the co-operation of the farmers who operate the land.

Most farmers will know this summer whether their land is likely to be in blowing condition next winter. Farmers know also that stalks left on the land when wheat is seeded will help hold the soil.

The seed for distribution in Randall county will be stored in the room at the rear of the First National Bank building. It will be ready for distribution the first of next week.

It may be planted late in the season so that only a small amount of moisture will be used in growing the crop.
